Potato Processing.
How to Manufacture Potato Flakes and Pellets.
Profitable Business Ideas.
Potato flakes are the most important form of dehydrated potato products, which also include potato granules, pellets, powder, shredded and sliced potato. Dehydrated potato flakes are made by pressing cooked mashed potatoes onto a drum drier, which forms a sheet that can be broken up and ground to the required density. Potato flakes can be used anywhere, where one would use mashed potatoes. They are also used in commercially available products, like instant mashed potatoes, pasta and fabricated snacks. As a thickener, they enhance creamy frozen desserts, gravies and chocolate milk.
Market Outlook

The demand for potato Flakes has been continuously growing for the last decade, more so due to the application of the potato flake in a large way in the snack food industry. Potato snack food is the most popular snack food the world over from USA to Japan. Also, with the acreage for potato not increasing in the developed countries due to various reasons, supplies must now be harnessed from countries like India.
The consumption of potato flakes in India can increase manifold, once a good quality product that at an economical price is available.

Indian potato flakes (recognized for its internationally accepted quality) would be able to make its place in the scheme of things, especially because Indian potato prices are extremely competitive when compared to others.
The production of potato flakes has huge potentials in the fast growing Indian market. Potato Flake is being increasingly consumed by manufacturers of snack food, soup powder, bread, biscuit and other bakery products.

The global potato chips market is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.3%, during the period 2017-2022, to reach a market value of USD 40.3 billion by 2022.
Global Snack Pellets Market 2016-2022 (Kilo Tons) (USD Billion)
