

Production of Frozen Layer Paratha

Description:

Production of Frozen Layer Paratha (Fried Dough Food- Flatbread Native to the Indian Subcontinent). A Lucrative Business Opportunity in Food Processing Industry.

A Paratha may be a flatbread that originated within the Indian subcontinent, prevalent throughout areas of India. Layered Paratha is a sort of flatbread which originated in North India. This buttery, flaky, crisp multi-layered flatbread is completely delicious served together with your favourites curry or Indian dish. Layered Paratha is formed with basic and straightforward ingredients, kitchen cupboard or pantry.

Paratha may be a kind of unleavened flatbread, which is formed of Atta flour. The flavour of Paratha is various. Sometimes, people mix stuffing with flour and knead them together such as Gobi Paratha or makkha Paratha. Sometimes, they like having a clear Paratha and eating with side dishes like aloo, or stuffed Paratha with keema, channadal, etc. As for dessert, sugar Paratha has never been forgotten. It's the simplest time to taste them while they're cooked.

For More Details Download PDF File

Keywords: #layerparatha #paratha #frozenfood #FrozenFoodMarket #FoodProcessingUnits #foodproducts #indianfood #FrozenProduction #frozenmarket #DetailedProjectReport #businessconsultant #BusinessPlan #feasibilityReport #NPCS #FeasibilityReport #startupideas #ProjectReport #foodprojects

Created At: 23 Oct, 2020