Description:

Profitable Business Ideas-Biodegradable Tableware from Corn Starch (Maize Starch, or Corn Flour). Eco-Friendly Business Ideas for Startup.

Biodegradable tableware is an alternate to tableware products derived from plastic. Manufacturers are keen on production of biodegradable tableware from biodegradable waste. Residual by-products of sugarcane extraction, rice bran, wheat, and maize are a number of the raw materials leveraged to manufacture biodegradable tableware. Furthermore, manufacturers are exploring recyclable waste such as fallen palm leaves and paper waste so as to broaden the horizon of their product lines. Biodegradable tableware includes food containers and tableware such as bowls, plates, cups and meal trays which will decompose within months of being discarded.
