Start a Manufacturing Unit of Transformer Oil from Base Oil. Opportunities in Petroleum Business.

Transformer oil (also known as insulating oil) is a unique type of oil with excellent electrical insulating properties and a high temperature stability. Transformer oil is used to insulate, avoid arcing and corona discharge, and dissipate the heat produced by oil-filled electrical power transformers. Transformer oil is also used to keep the center and windings of the transformer in good condition– The level of transformer oil is typically measured using a MOG (Magnetic Oillevel Gauge).
