Disposable tableware covers all disposable tableware, such as paper, plastic, and coated paper cups, dishes, and so on. These items can be found in fast food restaurants, take aways, and even airline meals. Consumers who prefer fast and simple clean up after events, etc. have found this type of disposable product to be quite common in private settings. Paper, plastic (including extended polystyrene foam), or plastic-coated paper are commonly used, just as they are for disposable cups.
