

How to Start Winery Wine Making Business

Description:

The growing popularity of wine in India is generating lots of interest among big and small wine producers. This is also reinforced by the fact that the cost for opening and setting up of wine plants with capacity of around 100,000 lts comes only to somewhere between Rs. 10-15 mn mark. As a result many entrepreneurs, Indian and foreign, are entering in this sector.

Total market of wines, spirits and liquors was estimated at Rs. 127.27 bn in 2007-08, which represents an increase of around 16% over that of the preceding year.

Wine making has been around for thousands of years. In its basic form, wine production is a natural process that requires very little human intervention. Mother Nature provides everything that is needed to make wine; it is up to humans to embellish, improve, or totally obliterate what nature has provided, to which anyone with extensive wine tasting experience can attest.

For more details download PDF file.

Keywords: Alcohol Wine Production from Grape Juice, Beginners Guide to Wine Making, Business guidance for Wine Production, Business plan for winery startup, Dessert Wines Production, Dessert Wines, Fermentation and composition of wines, Fermentation and wine making, Fermentation in winemaking, Fruit Wine Industry Production, Fruit Wine Industry, Fruit Wine Production, Grape wine making process, Grapes to Wine, Home Made Grape Wine, How is Red Wine Made?, How is White Wine Made?, How Sparkling Wine Is Made

Created At: 07 Dec, 2017