In the aluminium paint, the base material is aluminium powder. Aluminium paint is used for painting wood work and the metal surface. This paint is recommended for its good weather resisting and water proofing qualities. It is highly heat resistant and also resistant to corrosive action.

Aluminum paint refers to a paint that is solvent-based and filled with aluminum flake. It is a protective metallic finish use on well-prepared metal surfaces like storage tanks, roofs and pipework. This paint can withstand temperatures up to 302°F (150°C).

Aluminum paint is a very versatile paint that has several possible ways that it can be used and applied. Real flecks of aluminum are used in aluminum paint, along with fiberglass resin as a base to help it adhere to surfaces.
