Floating agent in the fishing industry has indirect relation. It has very good relation with fisheries. Fisherman has applied it lot for spreading net throughout the water surfaces with indications. Floating agent actually serves two purposes towards the fisherman. Floating agent may be prepared from the available natural soft wood or by using synthetic plastic. It is used by the fisherman to extend the surface area of the fisheries net. It can be used in swimming pool as well as in the pond for leaning how to swim, the jelly of ocean as safety stand, making temporary pool over the river, lake etc. There is indigeneous availability of plant and machinery in India. Synthetic floats has fair market in India. There is shortage of natural products so synthetic product may replace the market demand.
