Materials available for packaging are paper, metal containers, foils, glass, plastic-rigid, jute, plastics and wood. Among these materials, paper and paper based products continue to occupy a predominant place. Corrugated board is used for making corrugated boxes, which finds application in packing of a wide variety of consumer products like cosmetics, drugs, food products, house-hold goods, electrical and electronic goods, cigarettes, textiles, beverages, chemicals & hardware. The Indian paper industry is extremely fragmented. This industry structure is the result of the past government policies, which encouraged the setting up of many small mills with as low capacity of 1 ton / day.
